Trade Professionals Partner Program

Our Trade Professionals partner program connects customers seeking Amuheat floor heating systems with retailers and installing contractors.

When you work with Amuheat, you will find a partner committed to helping you make your business even more successful. Through quality products, reliable service and a commitment to respond to needs and trends, we bring true value to our Trade Professional partner' business.

We help our partners succeed in several other ways. These include benefiting by dealing direct with an Australian supplier who offers free installation and design support, marketing materials, technical support, regular product updates and product training. Partners also benefit from market initiatives carried on by Amuheat.
